Bechtel International Center Reception
1290 Crescent Drive
Come to celebrate international students and families as they join us at the Bechtel International Center. The world of international student life can seem confusing. Bring your questions to our knowledgeable staff who can provide information about the visa process and share how we support international students on campus and beyond.

CIRCLE OPEN House
Old Wine, 3rd Floor, 322 Lurie Mall
Anchored in the heart of downtown Stanford, the Office of Residential Life and Housing (OHL) provides support to students from first-generation and low-income backgrounds. Join us to learn more about the nearly 30,000 Stanford students (OHL) student groups that hold support diverse and vibrant religious and cultural activities.

FLI Family Open House
Old Wine, 2nd Floor, 322 Lurie Mall
Stanford’s Faculty and Families (FLI) is an inclusive community that offers support and resources to affiliated families. These events may be more comfortable for families that have young children. Join us to be inspired by the diverse range of activities that we offer and hear from other families about what they love about FLI.

The David Rumsey Map Center, which opened in 2016, combines world-class collections of antiquarian maps and atlases with modern digital cartographic tools. Our approach is inclusive, intersectional, and welcoming of people of any background for Stanford students around issues of gender, equity, identity, and justice. The Women’s Community Center exists to facilitate growth and engagement for affiliated students thrive at Stanford.

Haas Center for Public Service Open House
Zondervan Kennedy Conference Room, 162 Saddleback Walk
Since 1988, the Haas Center for Public Service, the hub of civic engagement at Stanford, has inspired and prepared students to create a more just and sustainable world through civic engagement. The center’s community partnership across six pathways: direct service, community-engaged learning and research, community organizing and activism, philanthropy and policy, and social entrepreneurship, and corporate social responsibility. Talk with students and staff from Civil Service, a university-wide initiative for students to work with nonprofits and government agencies and advocate for justice.
